A FIRSTHAND INCIDENT COMMANDER REVIEW OF THE 2020 NASHVILLE BOMBING

On December 25, 2020, Anthony Warner detonated a Recreational Vehicle (RV) bomb in downtown Nashville, TN killing himself and injuring eight others. The detonation of the bomb also resulted in extensive damage to many of the surrounding buildings.

Captain Scott Burgess of the Nashville Fire Department was the initial incident commander, acting District Chief and the first arriving chief officer at the incident. In his four-hour NVERS Regional Speaker Series Presentation, Captain Burgess will provide a firsthand account and detailed review of the 2020 Nashville Bombing. Special focus will be provided on the initial response, strategies and tactics, cooperation with local, state and federal public safety partners and lessons learned.

In addition to the 2020 Nashville Bombing, Captain Burgess will also provide an overview on his response and role as a Rescue Task Force commander during the March 2023 Nashville School Shooting.

Captain Scott Burgess spent 38 years with the Nashville, TN Fire Department. He retired as a Captain/Paramedic/ HazMat Specialist.

The event will be held in Chantilly, VA. Exact venue location will be sent out via email to registered attendees following the registration cut off date, January 29, 2025 at 4 P.M. EST.
